

EIGHTH
CLINICOPATHOLOGICAL
CONFERENCE ON PITUITARY DISEASE

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS LONDON

MONDAY
6TH MARCH 2006

A multi-disciplinary approach to pituitary disease, with workshop discussions of cases by representatives from neurosurgery, ENT, paediatrics, radiotherapy, pathology and neuroradiology.

This event is held at
The Royal College of Physicians
by kind permission of the Treasurer

Welcome to the eighth in this series of Clinicopathological Conferences in Pituitary Disease. To those of you who have not attended this meeting before, we aim to construct a unique practical training experience across all of the specialties involved in the management of pituitary disease. Consultants and senior SpRs will find this forum particularly rewarding.

These meetings grew out of the realization that centres involved in the care of pituitary disorders rarely got together as multidisciplinary teams to discuss cases and innovations. There is variability of local practice to which outside other groups often has not had access.

These meetings have also provided a forum for the airing of grey or difficult cases for discussion. Hence, the main part of the day comprises case presentations and we welcome submissions for consideration. During January cases will be selected in order to construct a varied programme and avoid repetition. We have sought experts in endocrinology, neurosurgery, oncology, neuroradiology and histopathology to review each case.
